THE RESIDENCY,
BANGALORE.

9th August 1911.

My dear Campbell,

At the request of the Committee of the local King Edward Memorial Fund, I am taking steps to ascertain what had better be done in the matter of procuring a statue of His late Majesty & what the cost is likely to be.

The statue of the late Queen Victoria cost altogether about Rs 26000 towards which the Mysore Darbar made the very generous contribution of Rs 15,000, while they also apparently spent an additional sum of about Rs 2,000 on improving the site.

Our position is that we have some Rs 6,000 to Rs 7,000 actually collected & expect to have about Rs 10,000 in hand within the next three weeks or so.

Would you very kindly ascertain from His Highness whether, on this occasion, we may expect from the Darbar equally generous support to that which was given for the late Queen's statue.

Judging from previous experience, it will probably take at least a couple of years to obtain the statue, so that the question of the exact site for it, to which I know that His Highness has been giving his personal consideration, does not press.

Yours sincerely
